

National Register of Public Service Interpreters

Recruitment - Non-Executive Lay Board Member

NRPSI is the UK's independent voluntary regulator of public service interpreters. We maintain a register of professional, qualified and accountable interpreters. The register is publicly available and searchable online. We promote public safety by ensuring that all registered interpreters are qualified, security vetted and accountable.

The NRPSI Board of Directors consists of 7 non-executive directors of whom 4, including the chair are lay members, and 3 are practitioner members, who must be registered interpreters. A vacancy has arisen for a non-executive lay board member, who is keen to embrace our values while helping to guide the organisation and interpreting profession through an evolving political and economic climate.

We are a company limited by guarantee so the role requires an individual who has a strong commitment to the provision of a better interpreting profession, and can offer experience and understanding of corporate governance, in particular working as a non-executive member of a board. S/He will display a clear understanding of the voluntary regulated sector and what non-executive leadership can bring to a not-for-profit organisation.

The successful candidate will be a compelling influencer and communicator within a team environment and have the ability to work within a versatile and interdependent sector. Successful experience as a non-executive director or equivalent, in financial management or in service contracting especially in the public sector would be particularly welcome, as would an understanding of policy making at senior levels in government.

The Board meets at least six times a year and there are occasional other meetings or responsibilities that members are expected to undertake. Meetings are usually held in our offices near Liverpool Street.

An annual allowance of £1,545 is made. Relevant and reasonable expenses are reimbursed. The appointment will be made for a three year term.
